CNA Pro News

You may have noticed that CNA Pro introduced a number of products over the last few months; Management Liability Solutions, EPL Solutions, Crime Pack and Fiduciary Liability Solutions. We've communicated with you on each of these, but since we now have three topics, we've decided to combine them all into one message.

CNA Pro has just added to our website, www.cnapro.com, a section that will house articles written by outside subject matter experts on new or complex products and trends that may be important to you or your clients. We simply call this new area "Third Party Articles" since that is exactly what is included, and you can find these articles in the Risk Management tab of the site. Currently we have the following topics:

- Shareholder Derivative Lawsuits - A Growing Concern for Corporate Directors and Officers
- Trends in Professional Liability Insurance Litigation - 2005
- Trends in EPL Laws and Litigation - The Intersection of Statutory Mandates and Sound Risk Management

We plan to add only a handful of articles a year, and have a good list to work from; however if you would like to suggest a topic with broad appeal, please let us know.

You can find each of the three articles mentioned above, as well as other Risk Management Services, by visiting www.cnapro.com/html/riskmanagement.html. And of course you can print out these articles as well as email them to your clients.
