

A world of technology expertise backed by local support.

We know that in today's expanding global marketplace, the needs of your technology clients are expanding just as quickly. To accommodate their requirements, CNA offers foreign property and liability coverage for U.S.-based technology companies, in conjunction with other CNA policies, to protect their international exposures and business operations. We issue local admitted policies in various countries around the globe using our international network of branch offices and long-standing strategic partner relationships. This network allows us to service companies in more than 130 countries on five continents.

How do you know if your technology clients need international coverage?

If any of the questions below are answered "yes," international coverage for overseas property and liability exposures may be necessary.

- Does the company have any foreign sales, imports or exports?
- Does the company sell products over the internet?
- Do any company employees travel outside the U.S. on business?
- Does the company attend trade fairs or exhibitions overseas?
- Does the company have any overseas facilities, licensing, subcontracting or joint ventures?
- Does the company have any foreign suppliers?
- Does the company have any payroll outside the U.S.?
- Does the company have an Ocean Cargo policy in place?

GLOBAL PROTECTION FOR GLOBAL COMPANIES
